'Obino l'Ewai' is a Plantain cultivar from Nigeria. It was one of the main cultivars used as a female parent plant in the banana breeding programme of IITA[1].

Contents

- Agronomic characteristics
- References
- See also on this website
- External links

Agronomic characteristics

Time from planting to flowering (days):

Time from flowering to harvest (days):

Time from planting to harvest / crop cycle (days):

Pseudostem height (cm): 370[1]

Pseudostem girth (cm):

Total leaves at shooting:

Functional leaves at shooting:

Youngest leaf spotted (by leaf spot diseases): 7.0[1]

Bunch weight (kg): 12.4[1]

Number of hands: 7.2[1]

Number of fruits: 91[1]

Number of fruits on a hand:

Fruit length (cm):
Fruit girth (cm):
Fruit weight (g):
Yield (t/ha/y):

References

See also on this website

- Articles on 'Obino l'Ewai' in Musalit
- Local names for 'Obino l'Ewai' in the cultivar checklist
- Musapedia pages on cultivars:
  - Apantu
  - Asupina
  - Bira
  - Bogoya
  - Bungulan
  - Figue Pomme
  - Gerei Langi
  - Giant Cavendish
  - Grande Naine
  - Gros Michel
  - Huamoa
  - Iholena lele
  - Inarnibal
  - Karat
  - Kayinja
  - Kisubi
  - Kolale
  - Lahi
  - Lai
  - Lakatan
  - Latundan
  - Maoli Maoli
  - Mbwazirume
  - Mysore
  - Ney Poovan
  - Obino l'Ewai
  - Pei Chiao
  - Pelipita
  - Pisang Awak
  - Pisang Jari Buaya
  - Pisang Lilin
External links

To browse accession-level information on 'Obino l'Ewai' in MGIS

Contributors to this page: Inge Van den Bergh.
Page last modified on Tuesday, 25 July 2017 13:32:00 CEST by Inge Van den Bergh.
The original document is available at http://www.promusa.org/Obino+l%E2%80%97Ewai